“ This is a great bill and I hope it sails right through. If you want to play in the game, get in the game. Use the two-party stsyem or start building a strong third party...don't just cherry pick and let any single individual pick and choose what seat they want to hold and then just go for that. Build a party the way others have done and give it your best shot....I encourage everyone to involve themselves in politics, but don't ask for special favors...get in there and fight it out under the same conditions as everyone else...through a primary and then on to the final stage. Saying you can't compete because you don't have the money is just an excuse...many in the two parties don't have money either but they don't blame it on something else..they compete with what they have..Keep fairness in the process as much as possible....this bill helps do that.

“ I enjoyed your ruudnop of the past year ..most of it I knew due to following Farside of Fifty blog. But it was good to read your summary of a typical year joy and sorrow .peace and quiet and some upsetting times. Ours is much like yours.We are SO SOCKED IN WITH SNOW here hours (twice) of snow and wind has piled things up mighty high .I am concerned about my birdies that I put on boots and struggle out to feeders so they will not be empty. The big pair of Pileated Woodpeckers continue to come and yesterday MBF fixed up a special suet feeder for the shy PWs .they are leery of being too close to the house;Miss Kitty is a being a slug and sleeping about 20 hours a day. She has her routine and needs attention several times each day at her command of course.Happy Happy New Year to you and Farguy you are Gems in our crown of friends!
