“ I wanted to express my heartfelt condolences to all of Grason's family. For right now, there's no detour around grief, no shortcut through mourning. However, 2 Cor.4:7 says that God can give us, "... power beyond what is normal...", to go from one day to the next. This does not mean that we no longer cry or that we forget. It means we recover. We recover because of our hope. Jesus Christ talked about our hope in John 5:28 which says, "...all those in the memorial tomb will hear his voice and come out...". Jesus was referring to the resurrection. That is our amazing hope! The Bible likens our hope to an anchor. Just like an anchor stabilizes a ship, our hope stabilizes us and keeps us from drowning in overwhelming sadness. One way that God comforts us today is by moving people who care about us to give us words of encouragement that we need to hear. May the God of comfort be your comfort now, during this time of sorrow. For the Bible's answers to life's big questions please visit JW.org.

“ I had met Grant several times but he did not know me very well.. He was always very respectful and such a nice young man.. But then one day at a garage sale at his Dads place... Being in the antique an stuff business I was always trying to make a deal with his Dad.. and in the process I said something that Grant though I was saying something bad about his Dad... and Grant let me know he did not like that... His Mom and me explained I did not mean any disrespect... just my way of kidding over that stuff... I said all this to say... I had a very high regard for this young man. and guess you would say a love for a young man I did not know well... Mildred I cannot know how you feel but I feel and hurt for you... If anything I can say or do to help... I will be there... God bless you... Come by and see me... I really have missed seeing you...
