BE

“ Today is beautiful! The mix of ulcods, sunshine, and mystery of what wait's beyond the last gentle gust of wind makes me feel that magic sensation when I look at the three of you. I want to join you as you anticipate those things that are truly unable to be anticipated. You two are like the night and day of this wonder of nature. My days will be more open to what if thinking, and our thoughts will hopefully drift alongside each others as the countless momemts filed with unseen growth flow into tomorrow. We are there in the handholding long side you all. Dream sweet and bountiful.We are dreaming what our lips cannot utter.
