“ I met Robert at Coronado High School in Lubbock Texas. My friends at the lunch table dared me to go talk to the new guy. He stuck out cowboy hat and all I did and we remained friends for awhile until we lost touch. I am saddened by the loss and continued prayers for his family. Kayla Parson/Abilene, Texas

“ I am so sorry for your loss. I'm sure they will be deeply missed by family and lifelong friends. May words of encouragement uplift your spirits at this difficult time. John 5:28-29 speaks of a time when our loved ones that have passed will "hear Jesus voice and come out" to be with us again. We'll be able to hold them again, and this time in the perfect life on paradise earth God always intended for humans. (Psalm 37:9-11) I hope this can bring a measure of comfort and peace to you during the difficult days ahead. May you lean on family, friends and God. Remember the good memories you had. You have my deepest condolences.

“ I met Robert through our church and he has been an inspiration to us all. He loved his horses, family and his children. ALS is never kind to those who suffer with it, but God was very kind to give him a very long life with it. For a time early on I helped clean his house until I took sick myself. He was a collector of guns and western memorabilia. He told me about the sheriff badges and how old they were. I helped when he moved into his new home with painting the bathroom, fixing his lawn mower a time or two. He was a very strong willed man and it was hard for me to have to step back when the disease took its toll. He wanted to ride that mower so bad but others had told me not to fix it anymore. So I let it go and prayed he wouldn't push for someone else to fix it. Robert your in a much better place today enjoying all that God has prepared for you. My deepest sympathies go out to the family and close friends. You will be missed Robert, Sharon & Russ Silljer
